BREAK O'DAY

The above cut will give some idea of the size and beauty of this variety. It is really one of the very finest Glads we have ever seen. Massive spikes with several flowers opening at a time. Blooming extra early, its soft LaFrance pink flowers will always be marketable at high prices. The pink is flushed over a cream ground and the shade is deeper at tips of petals. There is a zone of martius yellow on lower petals with delicate central lines of Brazil red. The most striking extra early variety ever produced.

See Page 6 for Prices.

THE MODERN GLAD

Somehow I like the increasing practice of calling them Glads. First, because it avoids the old arguments as to the proper pronunciation of Gladiolus. Then I like it because they are just Glad messengers. In sorrow, in adversity, in health and prosperity they carry their message of sympathy, love and fellowship to our friends. In sunshine and shower they lend their wonderful charm to our gardens. Whether petted and caressed or misused and neglected they still lift their heads to cheer us.

One hot day I cut a stalk that was not particularly good and cast it on the ground. There it lay in the boiling sun all day, a limp wilted flower. Next morning as I passed on the inspection tour, it smiled up at me with two bright open perfect flowers fresh with dew. Who could resist placing it in fresh water?

EXCELS AS CUT FLOWER

The Glad is perhaps the most satisfactory cut flower we have today. If cut when the first bud is unfolding they can be shipped long distances without moisture and when placed in water will last for ten days, or more. We have made parcel post shipments to Florida, arriving the third day, and they lasted a week with proper care. For house decoration, weddings, social functions they are supreme in their season.

SMALL GARDENS AND ESTATES

For the home garden they may be allowed to bloom out to the very tips without cutting, then remove the bloom stalks and the foliage is an attractive green. No dead or yellow plants to be removed from the garden to prevent it from becoming unsightly.

For the large estate where color effects are required by the landscape artist, there is nothing superior. As yet it is not fully realized by many that certain varieties which we are pleased to recommend in a list on page 18 are particularly desirable for landscape work. They have an extended blooming period and are of stocky growth which prevents the necessity of providing supports to hold them erect.

PRIMULINUS HYBRIDS

The old fashioned Glad was a stiff, close set straight spike of flowers without grace. The introduction of the wild Primulinus to produce hybrids has given us a race of graceful, wiry stemmed flowers with many soft, delicate shades. These are becoming more popular each year.

RUFFLED VARIETIES

Just as the Sweet Pea came to have ruffled petals, so the Glads of today in many cases have ruffled or frilled petals, adding much to their charm. We are also able to offer one variety with notched or serrated petals.

NOVELTIES

Many new types as to style of flower and habit of growth are being developed. The real "Glad Fan" wants something new. He (or she) can hardly wait till morning to go out and see what Opalescent or Vanity is going to look like. Then he wants to call in his neighbor Frank to see it. He waits impatiently for Frank to appear and then "Say! Come over here. Something to show you!" Frank climbs over the fence and he cautiously leads him around to where the new beauty is located. With his face beaming with pleasure and satisfaction, he points it out with, "Did you ever see anything like that?" Frank never did but vows he will have one like it or better next year. The Glad Fan goes to his work better prepared to meet his tasks of the day.

CANANDAIGUA—THE CHOSEN SPOT

Long before the white race came first to America, the Seneca Indians sought a location for their village. In all their travels they could find no more suitable location than at the foot of the most western of the Finger Lakes. This was their Chosen Spot and with much pomp and ceremony the assembled chiefs christened it "Canandaigua" (The Chosen Spot).

Just two miles south on the east shore of the Lake stands a rugged promontory now known as Bare Hill. This hill was venerated by the Seneca Indians as the place of the birth of their tribe and was known to them as "Genundawah" or Great Hill, from which was derived their tribal name Seneca meaning "Great Hill People."

In searching for a location to grow and produce the finest stock of Glads, the writer traveled throughout Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Ohio, and New York with the result that Canandaigua again became "The Chosen Spot." With our 78 acre farm overlooking the most beautiful of the famed Finger Lakes, with Genundawah as a distant background, we plant our gorgeous fields of Glads on the same ground planted by the Seneca's with their maize. Here in the shadow of Genundawah lies the birthplace of another new race which we are disseminating as "Bill's Originations." As strong and sturdy as the Seneca's themselves—they are winning their battles for supremacy in the "Glad" world.

The name Canandaigua carries to us a significance as our Chosen Spot. To you, it shall be our utmost endeavor, to make it "The Chosen Spot" where you may secure both bulbs and flowers of the highest quality.

Our location is just east of Canandaigua on the Main Highway from Buffalo through Canandaigua to Geneva, Auburn, Syracuse and New York City. Thousands of tourists stop to view our plantings.

The Latch String hangs clear out into the middle of the road, and it will be our pleasure to make your personal acquaintance and show you what is now growing in the old Indian Garden.

Yours most cordially,

GLADIOLUS BILL.

Probably no testimonial could be more beautiful than the tribute below written by Mrs. Frank A. Breck of Portland, Oregon, after having seen BREAK O' DAY in her garden.

BREAK O' DAY

I saw a Gladiolus rare,—'twas named the "Break O' Day,"
 And where a bloom is found more fair, it baffles me to say.
 It must have robbed earth's richest gems of opalescent gleams,
 It must have plucked the noontide hours of all their choicest beams.
 And if the radiance of the morn and sunset did their part
 To sheen this silken beauty and to glorify its heart,
 I know it must have coaxed the dew to lend its crystal prize,
 And almost speak the limpid love in little children's eyes.

By MRS. FRANK A. BRECK, Portland, Oregon.

BILL'S ORIGINATIONS

In nature, through the ages, forms of plant and animal life have developed through natural agencies and the survival of the fittest. Today with the knowledge of recent discoveries as to the laws of heredity, man is able to expedite and hasten the production of new forms and types in both the animal and vegetable kingdom.

The successful breeder must first have a definite ideal which he is striving to attain. Then he must be perfectly familiar with the agencies with which he is working in order to be able to select the proper individuals for parents. With a definite ideal and an understanding of the laws of heredity, as applied to the work at hand, he may be reasonably sure of at least approaching his ideal. Unfortunately our garden varieties of Gladioli are so hybrid in character, due to mixed ancestry, that many tests are necessary to discover their hereditary traits, requiring much time and patience.

The practice of gathering seeds at random, excepting in rare cases, cannot compare with our method of parental selection and inbreeding of the offspring to secure marked improvement.

This list includes many innovations, both as to color and style. We have hundreds of others under test to offer in succeeding years.

At the American Gladiolus Society Annual Show in Rochester, N.Y., in 1923, we captured three Silver Cups and many other first prizes with Bill's Originations. We again captured The President's Cup for the finest display and nine other first prizes, at the Annual Show in New York City in 1924. Our exhibits were made up entirely of Bill's Originations. This success in two succeeding years, against stiff competition, places our productions on the highest plane. This makes us feel that we are offering to the buying public some of the very best Glads obtainable.

In addition to our own productions we have included in the list the best and most popular moderate priced varieties now on the market. In nearly every instance we show the name of the originator in parenthesis following the name of the variety. Varieties that are strictly of the primulinus type with soft tones and wiry graceful stems, are indicated by the word (Prim.)

Harry Ferrenberg writes from Ohio: "The Glads that I bought from you last year, sure turned out fine. Opalescent produced five bulbs from three and several hundred bulblets. It sure is some Glad in flower and growth."

"Norwalk has a spike 38" after leaving liberal foliage to mature bulb. Flowers 6" across, splendid color, very straight spike. This is a good one with me."—J. E. CARTER, Guelph, Ont., Canada.

"Chameleon is a very rare color, strong grower, good spike. I consider it one of the best in my garden."—J. E. CARTER, Guelph, Ont., Canada.

"Had some wonderful spikes of JASPER but the finest thing of all was FASTIDIOUS."

—Dr. F. E. BENNETT, St. Thomas, Ont., Canada.

"THE ARISTOCRAT impressed me as one of the daintiest Glads I have ever seen. It's unique and distinctive coloring verifies your good judgment in naming it, for it surely is an Aristocrat among Gladioli."—L. MERTON GAGE, Natick, Mass.

"Bulbs received O.K. They sure are corking looking bulbs and I anticipate great joy this summer, when they bloom."—F. W. BICKERTON, Farmingham, Mass.

"I wish to say your generous treatment has added another customer to your list and it shall be my pleasure to tell my friends where to buy Gladiolus Bulbs." Gratefully.—J. R., Rochester, New York.

"Bulbs received today. They look like live ones!"—MADISON WOODWARD.

"I had great luck with my Glads last year. They were beauties with only one fault. I didn't buy enough of them."—L. POTTER, Canandaigua, N. Y.

"We congratulate you on your wonderful showing at the National Show. Wish we had the money to buy some of all kinds, for they can't be beat."—L. D. SEXTON, Penn Yan, N. Y.

BECOME A MEMBER OF THE AMERICAN GLADIOLUS SOCIETY

The Gladiolus, The King of Flowers

Do you grow Cladiolus in your garden? Can you grow the sturdy, beautiful spikes such as you see in your Florist's windows? Do you know what it means to you to save and grow your cormels? Did you ever realize the vast amount of pleasure there is in growing this flower from seed? If you have not realized all these pleasures, is it because of lack of knowledge? There is no secret to them. If you belong to the American Gladiolus Society you will receive its official Magazine which explains all these things and teaches you how to grow them as good as the professional. The Magazine will also teach you the best varieties and the proper colors to grow for different effects and purposes.

Why have nearly three thousand amateurs joined the Society in the past five years? It is "in search of knowledge" and the best place to find it is in the columns of the A. G. S. Official Bulletin which is sent free to members.

The Garden Magazine & Home Builder is published in a 20-acre garden,—a vast experimental station. Here every new plant, new spray and insecticide and new cultural method is tested. The results come to you each month in this reliable, fully illustrated periodical. It helps with every phase of garden work in every kind of a garden.

Beginning with its September issue, this magazine was enlarged, its policy broadened, its name changed to Garden Magazine & Home Builder,—to help with the house as well as with the garden. With more garden material than ever, this is the best garden and home magazine published.

CULTURAL DIRECTIONS

Unpack the bulbs as soon as received and keep in a cool dry cellar until ready to plant.

Any good garden soil will answer but do not use any fresh manure in the spring. If fertilizer is required apply barnyard manure the previous fall or use bone meal in the spring.

WHEN TO PLANT: In central New York the best time to plant is from May 1st to 15th, when the weather has become settled. If you are further south plant earlier. A good plan is to plant when Maple trees begin to open their leaves. For later flowers you may plant at various periods up to the 4th of July.

HOW TO PLANT: The general method is to plant in rows anywhere from 1½ feet to 4 feet apart, depending on the method of cultivation to be employed. Dig a trench 5 inches deep and 2 inches wide at the bottom. Place the bulbs on the bottom of the trench, 3 inches to 5 inches apart, and then fill the trench level full with soil. Deep planting and close planting both help the plants to stand erect at blooming time. We never have to tie them to stakes in our fields.

WHERE TO PLANT: They will bloom if planted most anywhere. They will not be at their best if roots from large trees penetrate the ground where they are located. Remember that roots of trees reach out further than the branches. Neither will they be very happy planted against the house or porch. Out in the garden or in special beds is the place where they will flaunt their beauty to perfection. Plenty of air and sunshine makes them strong and sturdy.

WATER: If you wish you may water them in dry seasons but water thoroughly. Dig into the soil after you think they are soaked and if the soil is not wet 5 inches give them still more water. Don't sprinkle a little every evening but give them a thorough soaking and then let them alone for a week.

CULTIVATION: Do it after every rain or watering. Keep the surface loose and don't let the weeds live on the moisture which belongs to the Glads.

DIGGING AND STORING: As the Maples begin to lose their leaves, lift the bulbs, cut the top off close to the bulb and expose to sunshine for two or three days. Then store in a cool dry cellar, 40° is best. In about three weeks you can remove the old bulb and roots with ease. Look your stock over and order more bulbs from "Gladiolus Bill" for next season. Also send him a Christmas bulb order for that friend who admired your flowers.

BLOOMING TIME: Go out in the garden early each morning and see the new ones with the dew on them. The fresh flowers always open early in the morning. The buds never open after noon. If you want them for house decoration cut them in the forenoon when two or more flowers have opened. Put in vases or baskets with fresh cool water. Give fresh water every morning, remove wilted flowers and cut about ½ inch off the stem. Given this care, every bud on the stalk will open in the house. They often last a week or more after they are cut. We hope you will mark the names of varieties when you plant them, so that you can call them by name when you see them. Give them a personality and you will enjoy them twice as much. Before you forget it, select those you like best and send in a new order at once for more of those varieties.
